tors during the day, while the beach just north of the club house, all the way from Fifty-sixth street to Ow.'s Head, was Hued with enger curiosity seekers, while any number of tur-boats and excursion steamers came down from the city and sailed around the two yachts.

At Bay Ridge a regular ferry was established between the shore and the racers, and for the moderate sum of 25 cents one could obtain a fifteen minutes' sail and a good view of the rachts. Of course the Dunraven cutter came in for a good share of the attention, and she was surrounded all day by numerous sail and row boats. No one was allowed on board, however, with the possible exception of a very pretty 15-year-old girl, who attracted even more attention than the yacht. Lord Dunraven was expected during the afternoon, but did not come. Capt. Cranfield said everything was quiet on the cutter, and that he had granted shore leave to over two-thirds of the crew. He added that not a rope yarn had been parted in Saturday's race, and that all he wanted for the next race was a fair breeze and not a fluke, like the struggle on Saturday.

On the Vigilant, Capt. Hansen, who was found near the wheel, said there was nothing new, and that no visitors had been allowed on board in the absence of Mr. Iselin. When congratulated on Saturday's victory, he said: That's all right, we will win every race. All we want is a good breeze, and the more wind the better we shall like it."

He added that Mr. Iselin and Mr. Herreshoff had gone ashore early in the day, and would not be back until late. The sailors on duty were smoking or talking forward, and, in spite of their alleged indifference to the English eutter, they could not keep their eyes off her. The Valkyrie's crew apparently could not see anything in sight but the Vigilant, and, if looks went for anything, a very substantial pair of "back stairs" could have been constructed from their constant gaze.

At the Atlantic Yacht Club, where the owners and friends of the Valkyrie and Vigilant meet on common ground, there was a great gathering. Latham A. Fish of the America's Cup Committee made an early call on Charles Ker. Lord Dunraven's representative on the Vigilant and a long talk resulted. It is said that Mr. Fish assured Mr. Kerr that some arrangements would be made to-day to prevent the crowding of excursion steamers and tugs at the line, which so seriously interfered with featurday's race. Among the other distinguished guests and visitors at the club house yesterday was ex-Commodore James Wier, Ar., Ballmaker Batsey, Designer Watson. Col. Pavid E Aussin. Lieut H. C. Duval, Eddie Fish, Commodore T. L. Arnold, George Chauncey, John Sawyer, Daniel Lord, H. G. Tiffany, E. A. Willard, C. Gliver, Iselin, ex-Commodore Elbridge T, Gerry, Newberry D. Thorne, Columbus O'D, Iselin, Adrien Iselin, Jr., Herbert C. Leeds, and William Butlet Duncan, Jr. Ex-Commodore Gerry, in a talk with a Sun reporter, said that he thought the manner in which the excursion steamers interfered with the yachts was outrageous, particularly the manner in which the Valkyrie was interfered with at the start on Saturday. Cup Committee made an early call on Charles

"Lord Durraven would have been justified," he added, "in hoisting his protest flag after the start, going back to the May and demanding a new race. I aim as anxious to see the race as any one, yot the Electra is kept from a mile and a quarter to a mile and a half away. The other boats could be made to do the same, and they would see just as much of the race. They not only get on the yachts weather quarter and stopail the wind, but they come so close as log tyet hem their wash as well. weather quarter and stop all the wind, but they come so close as to give them their wash as well. Itell you if this thing is kept up it would be proper for Lord Dunraven to ask the New York Yacht Club to have the races sailed of Newport or some other place than New York Yacht Club to have the races sailed of Newport or some other place than New York where the ynchts would not be interfered with, and I think his request would be granted. "I understand that on Saturday the owners of the steamer Monmouth, which crowded scross the line at the finish, tendered an abelogy to the Regatta Committee for their conduct after the race. That is all very well, but their apologies did not help the Valkyrie, which suffered through their carelessness." Sallmaker Batser, who dined at the Atlantic Yacht Club house last night, was asked by a first flush house last night, was asked by a first ground their carelessness." Sallmaker Batser, who dined at the Atlantic Yacht Club house last night, was asked by a first strated so much attention, were made of "Why, trish linen, that's all." He replied. "Do you find that the linen works better than cotton, or is it woven so loosely that the wind blows through it, like the light slik ballon sails which were in vogue a few years ago."

Why, no," he replied. "It works all right. All we want is wind enough to fill it, and we will take chances on what blows through it." "On Saturday you used what is called here a bally librousail, or one of the smallest-fixed topeals, on the way back. Could you not bave used a larger one to advantage?"

Yes, I think we comit. In my opinion we could have used one of our larger piblopsails, on the way back. Could you not bave used who we carried it on Thursday, and I think it would have been just as effective Yesterday."

How is it. Mr. Ratsey, that the yachtsmen come so close as to give them their wash as well.

I think it would have been just as effective yesterday."
"How is it, Mr. Ratsey, that the yachtsmen on the other side seidom use a balloon jibtopsail in their races, and yet you have one here. will be built and another challenge issued next year.

To day's race will be a triangular one of thirty nautical miles, ten miles to a leg. The first leg will be to windward, if possible, the second a reach, and the third aron. The start will be made, as usual, off the Sandy Hook Lightchip, at 11:25 o'clock this morning. The weather indications favor light northwesterly winds although the yachts may catch some of the storm which was raging over Michigan yesterday.

The London Times on Our Victory. LONDON, Oct. 9. - The Times says editorially this morning of the yacht race off New York

The Vigilant's victory was fairly earned. and doubtless raises the presumption that she will win three out of the five races. Still, the Valkyrie is not beaten yet. She had little valsyrie is not beaten yet. She had little chance of displaying her best points of sailing. Had the wind held true, she would have had a fine opportunity of showing her merits. "Making excuses for the vanquished, however is not a popular office and doubtless there are many who will answer that fickle breezes are an essential condition of yacht racing. Moreover, we have no idea of disparaging the merits of the Vigilant's triumph."

DR. BURTSELL GOING TO ROME.

He Has Not Been Summoned, but is Going Entirely of Bis Own Volition.

RONDOUT, Oct. 8 .- The Rev. Richard Lalor Burtsell, D. D., is about to leave for Rome. This announcement was made for the first time at the late mass in St. Mary's Church this morning, greatly to the surprise of the large congregation which was present. Just prior to delivering his usual Sunday discourse on the gospel of the day, Dr. Burtsell said:

You are aware that I am unaccustomed to intrude upon you my personal matters, but as I am about to absent myself from you for at least a couple of months, it would be unseemly to go away without a few words of parting. My purpose is to go to Rome to pay my respects to the Pope. I am assured of my reception by him and of his special blessing. It is well to add that I go, however, entirely of my own volition, without the shadow of a summons of any kind, but simply that I think it my duty at the present time to go direct to the Holy Father. At the same time I pray you not to interpret this nor any action of mine as a personal wish to part from you as a pastor. When I came to you. I expected, under God's will, to live and die in your midst. I have been very happy during the three years of my stay with you, and I shall be, as far as my personal feeling is involved, perfectly happy to come back and labor and toil to the best of my ability for your welfare. You will ever be in my heart. I wish you to pray very earnestly for me. My journey to lieme is likely to turn out very useful to me. It will not be new to me. For nine years in my young college days! I dwelt there. I returned again seventeen years ago on a visit. I shall now have again the opportunity to renew ties that have always been dear to me.

"As to the state of the parish, in its financial aspect, I am glad that I leave it in a perfectly satisfactory state. When I came here on all the church property there was a mortgage flebt of about $500. To-day there is but a debt of $5000 mortgage and no other debts whatever. As to the spiritual standing of the parish, it is more for you than for me to pass judgment on it. I shall ask you also to heartily cooperate during my absence with Father Gallagher, who has been appointed by the Archbishop as acting rector until my return."

A reporter called on Dr. Burtsell at St. back and labor and toil to the best of my who has been appointed by the Archeisnop as acting rector until my return."

A reporter called on Dr. Burtsell at St. Mary's rectory this afternoon and held a brief interview.

"What is your main object in visiting Rome and having an interview with Pope Leo?" was and having an interview with rope lee? Was asked.

"It seems to me proper," replied Dr. Burtsell, "that I should not say anything more than duty compelled me to mention to my congregation before parting, for I really have no other special purpose than to do some little thing to dissipate the clouds that have gathered in the ecclesiastical atmosphere, and I feel confident that my presence in Rome will have the effect of bringing a final solution to some of the questions involved."

feel confident that my presence in Rome will have the effect of bringing a final solution to some of the questions involved."

"When do you expect to take your departure for Rome?"

"I expect to leave on Wednesday morning and remain in New York until Saturday, when I shall sail."

"What steamship do you take, and will you go direct to Rome?"

"I go by the Werra of the Mediterranean line direct to Genoa, and then to Rome."

"How long will you remain abroad?"

"My time is unlimited. I hope that I shall be able to return by Christmas. The Archbishop has given me leave of absence for six months, to be extended if I desire, but I do not at present anticipate availing myself of the privilege."

"Is your visit to Rome for the purpose of furthering the prayer of petitioners of the Church of Epiphany?"

"That is by no means my purpose, for I had at no time taken any direct action in furthering the petition for my return to that church. It was entirely spontaneous action on the part of the people of the Epiphany. Yet it would be practically impossible for that petition not to become a subject of at least incidental consideration during my presence in Rome."

The Rev. John J. Gailagher, who has been appointed rectorduring Dr. Burtsell's absence, is at present the first assistant of St. Mary's Church in Grand street, New York city.

IS THE BEAR UP A TREE?

Baltimore Citizens and Police is a Hunt for an Escaped Zoo Curiosity.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8 .- A small black bear escaped from the pit in the zoo at Druid Hill Park yesterday. His absence was not discovered until night. Capt. Cassell, the superin tendent, with guard and keepers, hunted for bruin, and, though they beat the brush dili-gently, were unable to find him. The news spread rapidly this morning and occasioned alarm among the residents of Woodbury and Hampden, two suburban towns immediately Hampden, two suburban towns immediately beyond the Park. Doors were barred, the women and children kept indoors, and even the men did not trust themselves out of doors. Meanwhile the keepers had been unable to find the brar, who had covered his tracks so well that he left no trail.

By noon these bunters were reënforced by the police. Deputy Marshal Farnan, and Capt. Toner, and this afternoon additional refu-forcements came from various parts of the city. Sportsmen who pride themselves on their skill in tracking game organized hunting parties, and fearful bushands and fathers living in northwest Baltimore, near the park, armed with sticks and biudgeons, guarded the avenues leading to their homes. This evening the usually quiet streets of Woodbury were alive with hear hunters who had valify sought bruin in the wilds of bruid Hill Park. Late to-night bruin is still at large and the excitement is unabated. The hunt will be continued to-morrow.

THIS WEEK IN CONGRESS.

THE MOST IMPORTANT IN THE HIS-TORY OF THE EXTRA SESSION.

n Effort to Be Made in the Senate on Wednesday to Close the Debate on the Repeal Bill-The Bill Repealing the Election Laws to be Voted on in the House. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-It is the common expectation that this week—the tenth of the extra session-will mark an important epoch in the history of the session. In both Houses legislation of the first importance is pending; in the Senate the Silver Repeal bill and in the House the bill to repeal the Federal Election According to the present arrangement, Mr. McPherson of New Jersey is to take up the debate in the Senate to-morrow. He has been an earnest listener to most of the speeches that have been delivered on the pending bill, and his own speech will be in the nature of a reply to many of the points made by the silver men. Probably Senators Martin of Kansas and Cockrell of Missouri will follow Mr. McPherson. On Wednesday the crucial test is to be made-that is. If a sufficient number of Senators respond by that date to Mr. Voorhees's summons to insure the attendance of a quorum. In that case the effort will be made to bring the Silver Repeal bill to a final vote by sitting continuously, the purpose being to tire out the opponents of the bill. If the plans of the repealers are successful, the bill will probably come to a vote before the close of the week. But if the silver men succeed in the attempt to break a quorum and force an adjournment at any stage of the proceedings. they are confident that the Senate will be obliged to pass a compromise measure or allow the entire repeal proposition to fail. The Democratic caucus called forto-morrow night will decide whether the Tucker bill or the Fitch bill repealing the Federal Election laws best expresses the views of the Demoeratic party on the subject. The debate on the bill will close with to-morrow's session, and the vote will be taken on Tuesday. A fear the bill will close with to-morrow's session. and the vote will be taken on Tuesday. A fear has been expressed that there will not be enough Democratic Representatives present on Tuesday to constitute a quorum and pass the bill, but the managers say that the absentees left the city intending to return on that day, and they confidently expect that the roll call will show a quorum and a majority for the passage of the bill, even if the Republicans do not vote. The Populists will support the bill, the repeal of the Federal Election law being one of the demands of their platform.

The Tucker bill is for the repeal of section 2.002 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the appointment, qualifications, powers, duties, and compensation of supervisors of elections, and also for the repeal of the sections relating to the appointment, qualifications, powers, duties, and compensation of supervisors of elections and also for the repeal of the sections relating to the appointment, qualifications, powers, duties, and compensation of special deputy marshals.

The Fitch substitute is not so radical in its provisions. It amends sections 2.002 and 5.528 by striking out, wherever they occur in each section, the words "or to keep the peace at the polls," and repeals section 2.011 and all subsequent sections down to and including section 2.031, and sections.5.21 and 5.522, and all other acts and parts of acts which authorize the appointment of chief supervisors of elections, or of general deputy marshals of elections, and of deputy marshals of elections, or of general deputy marshals of elections, and of deputy marshals of elections, and of the provisors and the provisors and the provisors and the provisors of the United States from interfering with elections in the States, and to repeal all laws which provide for the appointment of supervisors and deputy marshals of elections.

An amendment pending is that offered by Mr. Lacey (Rep. Is.) early in the debate, and which is somewhat similar to the Fitch amandment.

nent. Eieven anti-repeal Democratic Senators met at the Capitol this morning for an informal conference, and their meeting has given rise to all sorts of rumors. The facts are that these Senators met for the purpose of arranging a programme of action with which to oppose Mr. Voorhees's programme of a continuous session, which he promised to inaugurate on Wednesday. It was agreed that when the usual hour for adjournment shall arrive on usual hour for adjournment shall arrive on Wednesday a silver Democrat will move to adjourn. If this motion is voted down as they expect it will be the silver Democrats will then accept the situation and endeavor to tire out the other side by insisting that a quorum shall be present all the time. They say that they have desirall the time. side by Insisting that a quorum shall be present all the time. They say that they have defeated their opponents in the debate, and that now, if they are to be attacked with a show of brute force, they are ready to meet it and expect to win.

The repeal Sanators neld no conference today. Senator Voorhees and Secretary Carlisle, however, drove over to Woodley in the afternoon and talked the situation over with the President. The greatest interest is felt in the coming week's proceedings in the Sanate, as it is the general opinion that the long struggle is about to reach a crisis.

LOWER CALIFORNIA.

A Report that a Syndiente Has Bought

BAN FRANCISCO. Oct. 8.-The Evening Record. paper which appeard to-day for the first time, and about the reliability of which nothing is known, prints a story to the effect that the territory of Lower California has been purchased from the republic of Mexico by syndicate of American and English capitalats, who propose to annex the peninsula to the United States. Wrendon, it is stated, avers that Lower California has been held by Mexico as a mere dependency. He is further quoted:

Even when we showed the Mexican Government a way to legally dispose of the territory they were loth to consider the proposition. The demand for gold and the fact that many bonds will fail due in April brought matters to a crisis, and after the exhibitions of much diplomacy and bargaining we at last came to terms which suited all concerned.

He also said according to the Decord the

He also said, according to the Record, that a bill had already been prepared providing for the acquisition of Lower California, which will be presented to the present Congress. Wrendom will remain here for a few weeks preparatory to taking up his departure for Washington. According to his alleged statements, Baron Worms, Col. North, the Earl of Percy, and a number of other leading Englishmen are prominent in the syndicate.

Efforts made this evening to locate the British capitalist have so far been unsuccessful. It is suspected that, even if there be such a person, his story is part of a scheme to boom land on the peninsula.

29,000 Extled Russian Jews Coming America.

BAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.-The Rev. Father H. Grippins Honcharenko, a Russian exile known here as the "Patriot Priest," is the principal authority for the statement that 22,000 authority for the statement that 22,000 Russian Jews, all men of wealth, have been exiled by the Car, and are coming to America, a large proportion of them intending to settle on the Pacific coast. He says the ukase will go into effect on Oct. 13 of our calendar. His information, he says, comes direct from Russia, and is authoritative. The ukase is aimed at the wealthiest class of Russian Jews. What lends color to his statement is the fact that news of the same character, seemingly from an independent source, has reached other prominent Russian Jews in San Francisca.

THE WAR IN NORTH AFRICA. Berbers Still Flock to Meltila to Fight the Mannin, Oct. 8.-The cable to Melilla has been repaired, and despatches of the most serious import have been arriving here since 10:30 o'clock this morning. The Holy Men throughout Morocco are preaching a war of extermination. They exhort the Moors to drive out all European infidels, and to give no quarter to Spaniards captured in battle. The Kabyles continue to arrive at the camp of the tribesmen near Melilla. The Moors have now more warriors than can be fed from the district to which they have immediate access, and a famine threatens. They have kept up a desultory fire on the Spanish fortress for the last twenty four hours. The Spaniards have replied occasionally, but without perceptible effect. The Moorish commander with a small escort and a flag of truce called upon the Governor of Melilia last evening and sued for peace. He assured the Governor that the Sultan's Intention was to inflict exemplary punishment upon the belligerent tribesmen. The Governor answered that Spain could not and would not await the Sultan's pleasure in the matter, especially as he was taking his leisure in giving satisfaction for the attack on the fort.

The Moors fusilished the gunboat Cuervo yesterday as she was leaving Melilla harbor. after having landed troops and ammunition. The gunboat put about and for twenty minutes shelled the Moorish camp. Twenty-four shells were sent into the centre of the Moors' position, and their fire was silenced.

One marine on the Cuervo was wounded. The loss of the Moors is believed to have been considerable.

The embarking of troops at Malaga and several other ports continues. The soldiers are accompanied to the docks by singing and theering crowds. At 7 o'clock this evening the Government issued an order that the entire Second Army Corps, Gen. Chinchilla commanding, should embark for Melilla. The order has caused some excitement and great rejoicing in this city.

Late to-night the Cabinet decided to hold back the reenforcements until word has been received from Melilla regarding the final decision of the leaders of the Kabyles, who are to assemble for a conference on Wednesday. The commander of the Kabyles has promised that a satisfactory arrangement will be made on that day.

The Minister of War informed inquirers this evening that there are fifteen battalions, fully equipped, ready to embark for Melilla. He believes, however, that the disturbance is ended. The Cabinet's decision to hold back the reenforcements is certain to incense the populace.

WALDO MESSAROS DEAD.

The Sensational Preacher Dies in Philadelphin After a Long Debauch.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.-The Rev. Waldo Messaros, recently of New York, died at 12:40 clock this morning in the German hospital. A long debauch led to his death, but a Coroner's investigation will be necessary to make clear the immediate cause. Messaros was taken to the hospital from a gold-cure establishment yesterday by two friends.

The proprietor of the establishment censures the friends for removing the expreacher, who, he says, would have been in good shape in a few days. He had only taken the preliminary tonic for his system and had eceived no injections. On the other hand, the friends who took him away, are equally postive that Messaros was not undergoing proper treatment.

The physicians at the German Hospital say that when Messaros was brought to that institution he was in a debilitated condition rom alcoholism. Pneumonia set in. and death

Re was shiployed to do some work for a Rible publishing house and had a room at the Washington Hotel, on Chestnut street. He became a familiar figure at the hotel's bar, and day after day was pitiably intoxicated. A few did friends who admired the man in his prosperous days got hold of him and, after some persuasion, got him to go to the gold cure establishment.

Messaros was about 43 years old, and will be chiefly remembered for his turbulent career as pastor of the Northwestern Independent Church of this city, which culiminated in his arrest, trial, and acquittal on a charge of attempted assault on Mrs. Coulston, one of his parishioners. He was an eloquent speaker and was very popular as a platform lecturer. He said that he was born in Greece, but this was disputed by many, who declared that his birthplace was Ireland, that his name was McKenzie, and that the name of Waldo Messaros was assumed.

Robert Vincent of 422 West Twenty-seventh

Robert Vincent of 422 West Twenty-seventh street, sexton of the Free Baptist Church, of which Mr. Messaros was the pastor, said jast night that as far as he knew the clergyman had not resigned or left his place as pastor. He left there on one year's leave at absence in May last. The sexton supposed he would resume his duties at the end of that time. His salary was $3,500 a year.

MARRIED WHILE WHEELING.

An Athlete and a School Teacher Return from a Bleycle Spin Man and Wife. Quite a stir was created last week in the Riverside Athletic Club of Newark by the discovery that Albert D. Tompkins, one of the pet all-around athletes of the club, was a married man, and had been married for months without telling his friends. On April 23, Mr. Tompkins and Miss Anna M. Provost, a public school teacher, took a long spin together on their bicycles. They had been friends for years, and were no doubt engaged when he years, and were no doubt engaged when he taught her to ride a wheel. On reaching Morristown Mr. Tompkins said to Miss Provest. "Let's get married." and it is reported that her laconic reply was. "Let's."

They found a minister and the knot was tied. When they returned to Newark she went on with her school teaching and lived with her people, while Mr. Tompkins continued his regular vocation and did not make any change in his home. They said nothing atout the marriage until last week. Mrs. Tompkins resigned from her place as school teacher at the close of the summer vacation.

Hattle Adams Again,

Hattle Adams, who was brought into public notice in connection with the Parkhurst raids was again arrested last night. Several days ago she was brought up in Jefferson Market Court and was allowed to give ball for trial. She was accused of keeping a disorderly house at 215 West Fortieth street.

Capt. Price of the West Thirty-seventh street station returned yesterday morning from Chicago, and he declares that as he passed 215 West Fortieth street in the afternoon Hattie Adams addressed him. He entered and arrested her. She was sent to the West Thirtieth street station, where there is a matron. Soon after her arrival Joe Moss of Howe & Hummel visited her. He said that Hattle Adams tells a different story. According to the woman, she was eating dinner with two men when Capt. Price, in citizen's clothes, rushed into the room and slapped her face. He then made the two men, a colored woman, and herself prisoners. Court and was allowed to give ball for trial.

Trolleymen to Wear White Neckties. The motormen and conductors on the electric road between Newark and Irvington were surprised on Saturday by an order from the office of the Consolidated Traction Company to the effect that they must thereafter wear white the effect that they must thereafter wear white collars and neckties. The men have been seeking comfort in neglige shirts, and were inclined to grumble at the interference with their personal predelictions, but they will not quarrel with their bread and butter. One man said that hereafter he would wear full dress after 6 o'clock in the evening, but he would regign if the officers of the road ever asked him to wear it in the day time.

SUSPICIOUS SICKNESS ON THE RUSSIA FROM HAMBURG.

Five Deaths During the Voyage-Three Members of a Family of Five III-No Cholers, the Ship's Boctors Say, but Health Offi-cer Jenkins Will Take No Chauces, The steamer Russia of the Hamburg-American Packet line arrived at Quarantine at 0% o'clock yesterday morning with a story of sickness and death sufficiently disquieting to cause Health Officer Jenkins to go on board as soon as he heard of it. There was no indication when Dr. Jenkins's assistant, Dr. Sanborn, went on beard that anything unusual ing over the railing at him. Most of them be-longed to as rosy and healthy a lot of German girls as the Doctor had ever looked upon, and they were laughing and having a good time. As soon as Dr. Sanborn stepped on the deck, Dr. Roffmann's assistant said that there had been five deaths on board and three additional cases of sickness. The latter and two of the fatal cases had been accompanied by diarrhoal symptoms. Both the ship's doctors and a physician in the first cabin, who had examined the patients, were certain that none of the sickness was due to cholera, but Dr. Sanborn the black steamer he saw a host of faces look-thought it wise to call Dr. Jenkins's attention to them. Dr. Jenkins was getting his trunk ready, preparatory to going to Chicago to attend the Health Congress there, when he received Dr. Sanborn's message. He immediately decided that he wasn't going to Chicago after all, at least not right away, and went on board the Russia without delay. After hearing what the ship's doctors had to say. Dr. Jenkins and Dr. Sanborn made a thorough examination of the ship and its passengers. There was still one passenger who was quite sick, and special attention was paid to her. She, like all the others who had developed suspicious symptoms, was suffering from diarrhosa, cramps in the extremities, and pains in the limbs. The ship's doctors declared that certain features of her case convinced them that it was not Asiatic cholera, but Dr. Jenkins said that Asiatic choiera, but Dr. Jenkins said that while he had no reason to doubt their diagnosis, he would have to detain the ship and make a further examination of the bassengers.

The Russia left Hamburg on the evening of Sept. 24. She is a slow boat, devoted principally to steerage pa-sengers and freight. On this trip she had 13 in the first cabin, 25 in the second, and 410 in the steerage. Capt. Schmidt told Dr. Jenkins that when he saw there were thirteen passengers in the first cabin he knew there would be trouble. On the 25th the first evidence of it came. Anna Catherine Lutje of Altuna died at U:10 P. M. She was a second cabin passenger, and was accompanied by her sister and brother-in-law. The latter said that Anna was very weak when they went on board. In fact, they had feared that the sea vorage would be too much for her. The ocean had been very rough at the beginthat the sea voyage would be too much for her. The ocean had been very rough at the beginning of the trip and she was very seasick. On the 27th the second case was reported. Ida Stubbe, one year old, from a town in Mecklenburg, was the victim. She was in the care of her parents, and other members of the party were Charles Stubbe, aged 9, and Bertha Schul, also a relative. All the more suspicious cases were from this family. Ida died at 2:10 A. M. on the 28th. The ship's doctors put down the cause of death as cholera infantum. On the 30th Bertha Schul, who was 18 years old, was taken with the same symptoms that had been manifested in Ida Stubbe's case. The Captain called the attention of the ship's doctors to an order which he had received from Directar Ballin, instructing him that in case cholera manifested itself on shipboard to return to Hamburg at once. Such an order has been general in the Hamburg-American Company's fleet this summer, but Director Ballin had called Capt Schmidt's attention to it specially. The doctors decided that Miss Schul simply had severe diarrhors. She was kept isolated in the handled at 19-10

t specially. The doctors decided that Miss schul simply had severe diarrhora. She was cept isolated in the hospital, and died at 9:10 P. M. on Oct. 5.
On the same day that her sickness manifested itself two others became ill. Charles stubbe was also isolated in the hospital, and is now convalesing. Miss Augusta Thomas displayed different systems and expired sudfrom alcoholism. Pheumonia set in, and death came in a few hours.

Messaros had been in this city since early in the summer, when he was confronted in New York with fresh church trouble and the action for divorce begun by his wife, who was the daughter of a well-to-do-merchant of this city. He was employed to do some work for a Ribbe publishing house and had a room at the Washington liotel, on Chestnut street. He be-was life a short time.

taken ill. He died on the 7th, the dectors said of errsipelas. One other boy in the steerage was ill lor a short time.

When Dr. Jenkins came ashore he said he was in doubt whether there had been any cholera on board.

"It may be," he said, "that the ship's doctors were correct, but I shall make certain that all is safe before I rebease the passengers or vessel. The suspicious symptoms appeared in three members of one family; but, on the other hand, four days have clapsed since the last case appeared. The vessel itself is in excellent condition, and all the passengers had been under observation between live and eight days before leaving Hamburg."

Dr. Jenkins telegraphed to Dr. J. M. Byran, the bactoriologist and to Mr. Boas, the agent of the company, and both went down to Quarantine early in the afternoon. Dr. Byran will be able to give his opinion to-night.

Dr. Jenkins decided to transfer Miss Augund the Stubbs family to Swinburne Island. The other passengers will be fundigated. The belongings of all the sick and the steerage generally were washed with bichloride of lime before the ship reached Quarantine.

KITTENS AMONG THE DEAD BONES. Lavelle Hanged Himself After Accidentally

Shooting Lacovitz. HACKENSACE, N. J., Oct. 8 .- On Sunday, April 2. while a party of brickyard men were firing at a mark for a box of beer, John Lavelle, the last man to handle the pistol, accidentally shot Valentine Lacovitz. Lavelle disappeared, and was not heard of until to-day, when his bones were found in a clump of trees back of Samuel Benjamin's barn, less than half a mile from the scene of the shooting. The remains were discovered through the agency of a pet were discovered through the agency of a pet cat in the Benjamin family. During the past week the cat was missing from the house, except during the midday meal hour, when she was fed. To-day a member of the family followed her to the clump of trees, where he found a litter of seven kiftens among the dead man's bones and garments.

About ten feet above the ground, held by a noose, was the skull of the dead man. Lavelle, it seems, frightened by the shooting, stole a halter from Benjamin's stable and hanged himself.

BELIEVES IN BANKS NOW.

Robbers Fall to Get a Farmer's Bag of $18,000 in Gold-The Chance Gone Now. HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.-Farmer Rummell lives at Carsonville and has hourded his cash in his house rather than put it in the banks. On Wednesday night two men called the farmer from his house and demanded his money The housekeeper heard the talking and also came out. Rummell refused to tell where his bag of gold was kept, and he was knocked bag of gold was kept, and he was knocked down. It contained $18,000. Two bullets were freed at the woman, and the robbers, fearing they had murdered their victims, fled. Neither was much hurt.

Yesterday Farmer Rummell drove to Milleraburg and astonished the bank teller when he shoved a bag of gold toward the window, saying: "There is $18,000. I want to put it in the hans." The gold was counted and found correct. Hereafter the farmer will be a firm believer in the security of banks.

He Was Lost Near Onset Bay Grove De Buzzard's Bay, Oct. 8 .- There is a swift current in the channel between Shell Point a Onset Bay Grove and Agawam Neck, Fast Wareham. Dr. Charles T. Olney of Brooklyn was drowned there last night at about 7 o'clock. His body was recovered at 11 o'clock to-day. Miss Gussie White of New York, who came to Onset Bay about a fortnight ago, had rooms at the cottage of Mrs. Bliss, the medium. where Dr. Olney was stopping. They spent much of their time together, and frequently rent out rowing. Last night Dr. Olney left the cottage to go to the water, and Miss White followed soon after. She says he was so far had occurred. When his tug came alongside ahead ofher as to be out of sight. When she reached Shell Point she heard him in the water calling for help and ran to get a boat off to him. She found a small one on the beach and pushed out. She grasped the Doctor, who seemed to be unconscious, and at-tempted to pull him into the boat. It capsized and he went down. She clung to the boat and tempted to pull him into the poat. It capations and he went down. She clung to the boat and was saved.

Dr. Oiney was thirty-nine years old, a Harvard College man, a graduate of the veterinary department, and was a native of Taunton. He is well known in Amesbury and Salem, and was a member of the Lynn Order of Elks and the Salem Cadets before going to Brooklyn last year to take a place with an electric company. He had given up the practice of his profession. Miss White is said to be wealthy, and has been a frequent visitor here investigating the occult phases of spiritualism.

Mrs. Bliss says the drowning is a mystery which she cannot solve. An ugly out under the dead man's ear may have been made by the dredging hooks. Medical Examiner Ellis of Middleboro has been summoned, and the remains have been put in charge of the Wareham undertaker by order of the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Capt. B. F. Gibbs. An inquest into the cause of death will be ordered by the Justice of the Fourth District Court when the medical examiner makes his report. A sister of Dr. Oiney in Fall River and one in Dover have been notified.

THE SOUTH'S OUTLAWRY.

Parts of Louisiana in a State of Terror-More Cotton Gins Pinearded,

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8 .- Louisiana is again errorized by regulators, and in many parts of the State the people are calling for a special meeting of the Legislature to cope with the evil. The Jefferson parish investigation ended in a farce, and none of those implicated in the lynchings there has been indicted.

J. H. Ringgold of Catahoula parish and editor of the Louisiana Democrat reached the city yesterday, bringing news of the appearance of Whitecapism in Catahoula parish, in a part of Caldwell, and in the eastern part of Grant. Gin houses throughout that section have been plastered with notices by regulators directing planters not to gin their cotion until the price had reached 10 cents, and threatening to burn the gin house of every planter who dares to disobey the midnight order of the regulators. Insurance representatives who had gone into north Louisiana to write policies on gins and other properly have decided to make no effort to get business in that section.

GRENADA, Miss., Oct. 7.—All gin houses have been placaded near here by White Caps, warning the owners not to gin any cotton until the price reaches 10 cents a pound. A negro was murdered by White Caps on a plantation ten miles from Grenada yesterday who had ignored the order of the outlaws. Whitecapism in Catahoula parish. In a part of

Powers Was Killed by the Heavy Pole He Had Shouldered in Joke.

FREEPORT, L. I., Oct. 8.-Jesse Powers and several companions of Rockville Centre visited this village last night. After making some purchases, the party attended the opening o new saloon. While there some one suggested that for a joke they carry a heavy electric light pole, which was in the street, into the yard o pole, which was in the street, into the yard of an acquaintance. Powers and three others took hold of the heavy end of the pole, while several more lifted the other end. They carried the pole about 300 feet, and, finding that their joke was turning into hard work, they concluded to drop their burden.

Powers was not as quick as the others in letting go his hold, and in some way slipped under the noie. The heavy timber fell on his head and neck, killing him instantly. His skull was fractured and his neck broken. The dead man's companions surrendered themselves to the authorities. As an investigation showed they were not responsible for the accident, they were discharged. dent, they were discharged.

THE NEGRO WAS INNOCENT AND LUCKE. LY DIDN'T REACH SAVANNAH.

Fighting Mob Takes Possession of Savans nah's Railroad Station Preparatory to Lynching a Negro Who Had Been Arrested-He Was Innocent and Was Let Go Outside the Town-A Squad of Police with Revolvers Drawn Ready to Shoot.

SAVANNAH, Oct. 8.-For ten minutes to-night t looked as though there would be a lynching at the Central Railroad station in this city.

Last night March Walker, a negro, assaulted a deaf and dumb white girl, aged 19, named Young. The assault was committed at the girl's home, in the heart of the city and only a block from Police Headquarters. The girl was choked into insensibility. After assaulting her Walker, who had been putting down carnets, collected his money from her mother and left the house. The crime was discovered soon, but it was several hours before it was reported to the police. The whole detective force was put on a search for the negro, but without success. To-day the police received word that a negro who, it was believed, was the guilty man had been captured at Bloomingdale, twenty miles from here, and would be brought to the city on the evening train. The news got out in some way, and at once a plan was made to take him from the police, drag him out of the city, and burn him alive. The eaders in the movement made their arrangements very secretly, and the authorities had no knowledge that a mob was gathering.

Shortly before So'clock men began to gather at the central station in crowds, and in a few minutes a mob of about one thousand armed men were in possession of the depot. Some had shotguns, but the majority simply car-ried pistols. The Chief of Police knew nothng of this, but fearing that there might be violence sent a squad of fourteen men to the station to meet the two detectives who had gone after the negro.

The police were unable to force their way to the track. The sergeant held them together with their hands on their pistols ready for a charge. When the train entered the station the mob surrounded it. As the detectives stepped off, a score of pistols were thrust into their faces. There was wild excitement. The squad of police drew their revolvers and pressed through the crowd to the assistance of the detectives. The detectives drew their pistols. violence sent a squad of fourteen men to the pressed through the crowd to the assistance of the detectives. The detectives drew their pistols.

"Where is he?" yelled the crowd, waving their weapons wildly.

"He was the wrong man and we turned him loose," called out one of the detectives. There was a howl of derision. All that was needed was the discharge of a single pistol to have precipitated a riot. The mob was furious, but it was true that the detectives had put the negro off the train outside the city. He was the wrong man. The cars were searched, but no negro could be found.

The detectives made their way to the police, and the squad hurried back to headquarters to be ready there for any emergency. A large part of the crowd hurried to the county jall, thinking the negro might have been taken there. Here again they were disappointed. After being satisfied that the officers had teld the truth, the mob slowly dispersed. Extra guards were provided at the jail in case of a repetition of the trouble. The negro who was arrested really was innocent. On the way to the city he was identified and let go. Had he reached the city he would have been lynched, despite any protestation of innocence. A quiet search is being made by members of the mob for the real culprit, who is now thought to be hiding in the city. The feeling against the negro is so strong that his death will be quick and horrible if he falls into other hands than the police.

HARLEM CRAPS PLAYERS RATDED. Twenty-five Boys Gathered In by the Police of One Precinct.

The Sergeant's desk at the East 104th street police station was littered yesterday with dice and rabbits' feet taken from twenty-five small prisoners, whose ages ranged from 10 to 16 years, and who had been caught in a raid that was made on craps players. Detective George Smith, with fifteen men in citizen's clothes, smith, with fifteen men in citizen's clothes, made a tour of the precinct yesterday. Every boy seen playing craps was arrested. By the time twenty-live youthful gamblers had been caught the policemen had their hands full, and officers and boys marched in procession to the station house. There the prisoners were searched, and, despite tears and protests, were deprived of favorite lucky bones and treasured rabbits' feet.

The boys will be arraigned in the Harlem Police Court this morning.

Superintendent Byrnes at Headquarters.

Superintendent Byrnes was at his office in Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon for the first time since Wednesday. Although ecident he met with on Wednesday afternoon, the wound on his forehead is not yet healed. and it will be some days before the discoloration disappears from his face. Mr. Byrnes said he would have been out before, but by said he would have been out before, but by the advice of Dr. H. Marion Sims, who feared erysipelas would set in if he took cold, he remained at home. The Superintendent went to his office yesterday to arrange for detailing
